

Mobilisation Campaign Croatia
'Breakfast Discussion: Biogas for Croatia'

26 February 2008

from 8:45 to 11:30 am

Zagreb, Croatia

Announcement

Objective

The objective of this Stakeholder Mobilisation Campaign is to inform interested stakeholders about opportunities to produce and use biogas in Croatia.

The Breakfast Discussion

The Stakeholder Breakfast Discussion will be implemented in the framework of the BiG>East project on 26 February 2008 in Zagreb, Croatia.

Biogas plant manufacturers, planners and consultants will give technical presentations about biogas installations and BiG>East activities. Experts from countries with developed biogas production (Denmark, Germany, Austria) will share their experience about how to implement biogas projects. During the discussion you can ask them any questions about biogas potential, framework conditions, technical aspects, and project implementation.

This event is organised in the framework of the BiG>East Project under the "Intelligent Energy for Europe Programme" of the European Commission.

The BiG>East Project

BiG>East promotes the production and use of biogas as a secure and sustainable energy source in several target countries of Southern and Eastern Europe. This is achieved by knowledge transfer from biogas experts of Western Europe to farmers, biogas plant operators and decision makers in Southern and Eastern Europe. Thereby, BiG>East will increase both, the number and the quality of installed biogas plants in the target countries of Southern and Eastern Europe: Bulgaria, Croatia, Greece, Latvia, Romania, and Slovenia. In these countries, biogas is one of the main renewable sources suitable for electricity production and for heating and cooling purposes.

Biogas can be produced in order to reduce agricultural waste, sewage sludge, and municipal organic waste which is a serious problem in many regions of Eastern Europe. In spite of these strong environmental and economic benefits, the production and use of biogas is not yet a common application due to several market barriers: lack of knowledge and experience of farmers, biogas plant operators and engineering companies, lack of awareness of decision makers, and insufficient access to funding sources. The objective of BiG>East is to reduce these market barriers.
